

- 15:7 αλληλους || αλληλοις 1892 [apparently—working from a black and white film it is hard to be sure; changes accusative to dative, but does not alter the meaning]
- 15:9 ψαλω || ψαλλω 1892 [probably a careless change, but it changes future to present, that makes little difference in the meaning; they would be pronounced the same way]
- 15:13 περισσευειν || περιρσευειν 1892 [apparently—working from a black and white film it is hard to be sure; an itacism resulting in a misspelling; they would be pronounced the same way]
- 15:29 του χριστου || της ειρηνης 1892 [perhaps the exemplar was damaged; in the context the change makes little difference]
- 15:30 συναγωνισασθαι || συναγωνισασθε 141,1892 [changes Indicative to Subjunctive, but they have the same effect; they are two ways to say the same thing;; the other MS does not belong to group 1, so this is an independent change]
- 16:2 και γαρ || 121 1892 [a careless repetition of the coordinating conjunction that does not change the meaning]
- 16:3 πρισκαν || πρισκυλλαν [30%] 394,1249<sup>c</sup>,1761,1892 [alternate names for the same person]
- 16:6 υμας || ημας (75.5%) 394,1732,1761,1892 [a change that dominated the general transmission; it makes little difference in the context]
- 16:20 συντριψει || συντριψοι 1652<sup>alt</sup>,1892 [a change from future Indicative to Optative that weakens the force of the verb]
- 16:24 ημων || υμων [82%] (group 1)+ 1892 [a change that dominated the general transmission and would be made almost automatically if the copyist did not notice that Tertius is speaking; it makes little difference in the context]

With five exceptions, only a single letter or syllable is involved, and nowhere is the meaning seriously affected.<sup>1</sup> Someone reading MS 1892 would not be misled as to the intended meaning at any point in the book. I say this is noteworthy, and it is typical of all f<sup>35</sup> MSS. Down through the centuries of transmission, anyone with access to a f<sup>35</sup> representative could know the intended meaning of the Autograph.<sup>2</sup> Not only that, most lines of transmission within the Byzantine bulk would be reasonably close, good enough for most practical purposes. This is also true of the much maligned Textus Receptus; it is certainly good enough for most practical purposes. Down through the centuries of Church history, <sup>1</sup> Looking at the list above, it is evident that the care quotient of the copyist fluctuated; about half of the changes occurred in the last two chapters; between 5:13 and 9:15 there are no changes, so he did perfect work for four chapters. In chapter 16 he appears to have suffered some outside influence. For all that, 1892 is an adequate representative of the original wording of Romans.

<sup>2</sup> Since f<sup>35</sup> MSS are scattered all over, or all around, the Mediterranean world, such access would have been feasible for most people.
